Women are said to be second to the press in the dissemination of news.

What requires more philosophy than taking things as they come?—Parting with things as they go.

A wise man, being asked how old he was, replied, "I am in health," and being asked how rich he was, said, "I am not in debt."

If girls would have roses for their cheeks, they must do as the roses do—go to sleep with the thistles and get up with the morning glories.

There is a curious Chinese proverb which says: "In a cucumber field do not stoop to tie your shoe, and under a plum tree do not wait to settle your cap on your head," which means if you do some one may think you are stealing the cucumbers or the plums.

"Rise up, daughter, and go to thy daughter," for thy daughter's daughter has a daughter." This is what Richard Vernon, of Jefferson County, Ind., aged 85 is supposed to say to his daughter. He was lately made great-great grandfather by the birth of a daughter. The fathers of all his grand-children are still alive.

Detroit is anxious to discover the boy who allowed them how to imitate rosewood. Formerly two kinds of paint or coloring matter were used, but one day an ingenious youngster mixed them, and applied them together. He died in terror at the approach of the foreman, but left an admirable imitation of rosewood behind him.

A famous English Judge had a habit of begging pardon on every occasion. At the close of the service, as he was about to leave the bench, the officer of the court reminded him that he had not passed the sentence of death on one of the criminals, as he had intended to do. "Don't say that," said his lordship; "I really beg his pardon. Bring him in."

The amount of loss suffered by coal from exposure to weather is considerable—far greater, indeed, than is generally known. The results of recent analyses show in some cases a total loss in weight from this cause amounting to 33.8 per cent, while the deterioration in quality for purposes of fuel or gas making reached a still higher figure.

Country Newspapers.

Few people appreciate the value of the village papers which gather up the news of a county and advocate the interests of a locality. And few understand the amount of ability required to edit such a paper where one man must be editor, publisher, printer, book-keeper and all. Imagine how much the intelligence of the country would suffer by the blotting out of the country papers, which treat the immediate interests of the people and thus come into immediate contact with their minds!

The true country editor understands that his paper thrives by being intensely local; that it is not by leaping distances on trifling and expensive facts, but by sticking in favor of the new railroad, by descriptions of the new factory, by advocacy of the new bridge that he must succeed. People look in his columns not only for the latest general news, but for the mention of every interesting fact, of every curious matter of gossip in his own county. And thus the paper becomes the director of the current events and the public sentiment of his section. Nothing is too small to be itemized. If only it is of interest. A country editor advertised that he would insert a list of the names of all the people who had joined the churches in the county in a recent revival. Which showed that he was not his business. He proposed to chronicle every event of interest occurring in his jurisdiction.

Every intelligent family should give a cordial support to the local newspaper. It is one of the great educational influences. —Month and Years.

SHOPPING IN JAPAN.—In a handkerchief manner, the Japanese merchant cannot be surpassed. Seated on a mat unobscured floor, elevated only two feet above the level of the street, his heels for a chair, and attired in a calico gown with flowing sleeves, he attracts his customer with a persuasive voice, "O-haka?" which might be considered synonymous with, "How are you?" To learn the price of an article, you say, "O-kasari?"—"how much?" Invariably an exorbitant figure is named, which, if you have been initiated by a friend, will be realized, if with well-figured, fastidiousand see, and the merchant at once responds, "How much will you give for this?" The half the price asked will be a reasonable offer, by way of compromise. A profound consolation then takes place, and among the traders interested in the business, by this time will have been emptied their pipes and risen, some of their number meanwhile shuffling the little bills of a seducting gambler. If your offer is accepted, several small loads of hands and a simultaneous clapping of hands signify consent. If rejected, make no more than a trifling exclamation, for if by any chance you are permitted to leave the store without a bargain, a messenger will probably be despatched in hot pursuit, saying, "Can do." A porter is at once instructed to deliver the goods.

MILKY.—A doctor was called to see a patient whose drink was whisky. Water was prescribed as the only cure. The patient said that it was out of the question that he could never drink it. Milk was then proposed, and patient agreed to get well on milk. The doctor was soon summoned again. Near the bed on which he was lying, a plate and on the

"Milk, doctor; just what you

I smell it." "Well, doctor," sighed the patient, "there may be whiskey in it, but milk's my object."

A FATAL AFFAIR.—A Mrs. Mason, landlady of the boarding-house at the east end of the Hoosier Tunnel, expostuated with an Irishman for not paying his board-bill, when he seized a club and struck her over the head, inflicting a fearful wound from which it is doubtful if she recovers. Her daughter Mary, aged 11, who was present and witnessed the assault, was so badly frightened as to lose her death.

A WISE STROKE.—A lady in New York, of French parentage, bright, lively, and good, became the wife of a gentleman in whose business called him to travel very far from home, and with his purse had been rapid, and the lady's relatives gave many shillings of the kind when talking of the marriage. He was very sorry for her that he might be a naughty husband, but promised to be a better. And he made a very good husband. On each return from Paris he brought her a new dress, a new bonnet, a new diamond tiara, sometimes a dozen of Alexander's, sometimes a dress. But in this, his eighth return, he surprised her by placing in her hands a single diamond hairpin, the cost of which could not have been less than seven or eight hundred dollars. Well might her bright

MORAL IMPROVEMENT.—A meeting was held in Lincoln Hall, Weymouth, Sunday evening last, for the purpose of forming an organization for moral improvement. Remarks were made showing the need of such an organization, and it seemed to be the wish of most of those present, to take up the subject of temperance first. It was not intended, by any means, to restrict the subject to this alone, but to have the basis of union so broad that no friend of moral improvement will be excluded. All subjects pertaining to morals will be open for discussion, and without regard to sect or party, are invited to join and help on the movement.

The following constitution was adopted: We, the undersigned, hereby agree to unite ourselves into an organization for the purpose of aiding each other, and the people around us, in freeing themselves from the appetites and passions of the flesh, and to have the aid of the Holy Spirit in their moral and spiritual improvement.

Article 1. The organization shall be called the Weymouth Association of Moral Reformers, and shall hold meetings at such times and places as the board of officers shall determine.

Article 2. The officers shall consist of President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and seven Directors, who, together shall constitute a board of officers, and hold their office until others are chosen.

The next meeting will be held Sunday evening, May 26th, at 7 1/2 o'clock, at which the officers will be elected.

J. W. ARMINGTON, Sec'y pro tem.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—The Norfolk County Teachers' Association will hold its annual meeting in Lincoln Hall, Weymouth, on Monday, May 20th, and Tuesday, May 21st. The teachers of the county prize these meetings, feeling that they derive great benefit from them, and all will aid in the benefit of gathering together from time to time to counsel. No class of public servants come nearer to the people than the public school teachers; for this reason the people should be ready and willing to support them in their part to fit themselves for their work. One of these instrumentalities is the County Convention. In order to make this as efficient as possible, the people of the place where the convention is held should do what they can to make it a success. The teachers will try to perform the intellectual part. Will the people throw open their doors to the scholars, and let them come from other places a cordial reception? We know that it will be some trouble to make the extra bed and prepare the extra plate. The good ladies may be tempted to rise a little earlier to get the breakfast, and may become a little fatigued from the labor and excitement of the occasion. Consider whether the consciousness of having helped on a good cause, will not more than pay all effort. Let all in this place try to do what they can to aid and encourage the teachers in their work. Give them such a reception as they feel that they and their calling are appreciated.

ACCIDENT.—While engaged in superintending the manufacture of steam diggers in the blacksmith shop of Mr. South, at Weymouth Landing last Saturday, Mr. M. Hodgman, the inventor of the machine, had one of his feet badly injured, several bones being broken, by the falling of an iron bar.

AUCTION.—The furnishings of the Weymouth Hotel were sold at auction last Tuesday, and Mr. Wales will remove to Andover, Mass., where, as the report is, he has purchased a farm of several acres, and will make that place his residence.

CONSTANCY.—The constant school attendance of the two children of Mr. Oliver Burrell, of East Weymouth, is, we think without parallel. From their commencement at the age of four years, to the present time, their ages being 14 and 16 years, they have never been absent a single day, with one exception—the son having interrupted one session in his younger days.

REMOVAL.—Messrs. Nash & Radford, grocers at Weymouth Landing, have vacated the store in which they have been located, and removed their stock to North Andover, where they intend to continue in the same business, while the vacated store will be occupied as a club-room by a company of young men.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—Sam'l Curtis sold at public auction, on Saturday last, sixteen out of fifty lots of land, on Front street and Walnut Avenue, belonging to Adoram Chapin. Nos. 5 and 6, Michael Ford, $225 each; Nos. 7 and 8, Byron Hunt, $170 each; Nos. 9 and 10, Arthur Cook, $155 each; Nos. 11 and 12, Julia Donahue, $150 each; Nos. 13 and 14, Bradford Hunt, $150 each; Nos. 44 and 45 (a part of these lots being in Brantree) Eugene Langley, $180 each. The attendance was very large, and the prices obtained were satisfactory to the owner.

MATHEMATICAL PROBLEMS.—"I am 56 years old," said A. "I was one year older than I now am, four-fourths of my age, diminished by four, would be equal to one-fourth of my age, increased by two. How old am I?"

"I," said C, "from my age you take three, extract the square root, multiply by seven, and add five, the result is my age, the sum will be twice my age. How old am I?"

FROST is still found in exposed northerly situations. We learn from Mr. Gerald, of the South Shore Railroad, that the laborers engaged in excavating a bank at Egypt station, on the Roxbury line, a few days since struck from the depth of about 18 inches, and in an excavation at South Boston, at the depth of four feet six inches, ice was found.

CHURCH IMPROVEMENT.—The work of raising and repairing the Union Church has been commenced. Mr. Cavanaugh, of Brantree, has contracted to do the raising, for $600.

DREDGING.—The channel of the Moniquogue, above the bridge at East Brantree, is being dredged to the wharf of Capt. Shepherd, coal dealer.

DEATH.—The last of the veteran masters of the Hingham packets, Capt. Moore, deceased last week, at the age of 70.

FIRE.—An alarm of fire last Sunday afternoon at South Weymouth, called out the Extinguisher Co., with their machio, which was hailed with commendable alacrity to the scene of the fire, which proved to be the buildings of Mr. John Moore, nearly opposite the Catholic Church. Some children had been playing in the barn, and it is a matter of regret that hay, and so rapid was the progress of the flames that the house and stable were soon reduced to ashes. The loss of Mr. Moore is large, as he had nearly completed many improvements on the place, the value being estimated as high as $5000, on which there was an insurance of $1500 in Bor. on.

Brantree.—According to promise, I transmit this week's edition of the work in the first parish in Brantree—Rev. Dr. Storrs—during the past fifty-five years, together with historical information regarding the origin of the Sabbath Schools, as given by Mr. T. B. Watson on Sunday, May 5th, the fifty-fifth anniversary of the formation of the School. First with regard to general information touching the Brantree School, Mr. Vinton remarked that the first reliable information which comes down to us from the past, records the fact that the Sabbath School has its origin in the time of Abraham, as recorded in the 18th chapter of Genesis, 19th verse. Also that the Jews were accustomed to teach the children with regard to the law of Moses.

Joel was commanded to call a solemn assembly not forgetting the children. Moses, Samuel, David and Daniel all illustrate the value of instructing children in religious truth. Christ rebuked His disciples when they hindered the children, giving utterance to those words of mortal as well as immortal significance, "Suffer the children to come unto me, for such is the kingdom of heaven." But for Scripture reference, this must suffice, although they are but fragments of the whole. In the year 180 the early church felt the necessity of forming schools, to train the children of heathen converts. Origen is mentioned as one of the first teachers. They flourished for four hundred years, after which a season of obscurity known as the "dark ages" intervened. Then, in the year 1000, the church began to revive, and in 1200 the first definite and detailed account is given of a school in Lancashire, England, which continued until 1778, when the building was taken for a hospital during the revolutionary war, not the first time that the school was hindered by the war. The first mention of Sabbath Schools in this country is given in Ellis's history of Kentucky, where it is stated that in 1790 the first school was held in the city of Louisville. In 1797 the first definite and detailed account is given of a school in Lancashire, England, which continued until 1778, when the building was taken for a hospital during the revolutionary war, not the first time that the school was hindered by the war.

Marin Luther established schools in Germany in 1527, and John Knox in Scotland in 1557. The first mention of Sabbath Schools in this country is given in Ellis's history of Kentucky, where it is stated that in 1790 the first school was held in the city of Louisville. In 1797 the first definite and detailed account is given of a school in Lancashire, England, which continued until 1778, when the building was taken for a hospital during the revolutionary war, not the first time that the school was hindered by the war. On Monday evening, the 6th inst., there was a meeting of the House, at which Mr. J. H. Thayer, of Weymouth, was elected to the position of Secretary of the House. The meeting was held in the Senate Chamber, and was attended by a large number of members. The business of the day was the consideration of a bill relating to the appointment of judges of the District Courts.

North Weymouth.—The Spring opens with much brighter prospects for business in this section of the town, than many years. Some of the best and most successful manufacturers intend doing a larger business this year than they have ever done before, and we know of none who think of doing any less than usual, although the price of some commodities has risen somewhat higher than last year.

For carpenters, painters, and every other business the prospects never looked better. There is to be a fair, and a number of houses put up here this season. Among the houses intended to be built are C. H. Newton, Henry Hicknell, George Clark, John Bates, and Winslow Burdell. Some of the houses are already under way, and it is expected that the season will be a very successful one for the building trade.

The Fine Point Hotel was opened some three weeks ago. This house will be kept by the well known caterer, Howard F. Rowe, celebrated for his hospitality, and who has been in the business for many years. The hotel is a fine building, and is well equipped with every thing in that line of trade. Such a store is very much needed in this place, and we wish him every success in his business.

A few days since a gentleman of this place collected some sixty pigeons for the purpose of having a shooting match. A proper place was selected, the time appointed, and the crack sportsmen were at their posts in good time to see who could shoot the largest number of pigeons. When all was ready, the gentleman having charge of the game, opened a box-trap and out flew a pair of innocent, harmless pigeons, and the brave sportsmen began to shoot. Occasionally one would fall, but many flew away. Some were wounded and died after flying some distance out the ring. We believe that it was a wicked, cruel practice, and hope the time is not far distant when every man and boy will look upon it as such, and practise pigeon shooting no more.

APPOINTMENT.—The Governor and Council have appointed E. C. Bumpus, Esq., of Weymouth, to be one of the judges of the East Norfolk District Court, and J. W. Acton, Esq., Clerk.

SELF ACTING FIRE ENGINES.—An exhibition of the Self Acting Fire Engine will be given at the North Weymouth Depot, on Friday, March 17th, at 3 1/2 o'clock P. M. The engine is a new and improved one, and is capable of doing a great deal of work. It is a very valuable addition to the fire department, and is well worth seeing.

REAL ESTATE.—The sale, noticed in last week's issue, of the estate of John H. Thayer, was made to Mr. F. B. Thayer, the proprietor of the North Weymouth and Real Estate Agent of North Brantree, whose connection with it is a pretty good indication that another of Brantree's best farms is about to succumb to the march of "improvement."

Speaking of improvement in that vicinity, I remind me that the County commissioners have been invited to look at Washington St., in order to ascertain if little crooks or other defects which admit of a remedy. Mr. Editor:—Our quietude is a striking proof of the success of the County commissioners in their efforts to improve the city. The closing hours of the session were characterized by the noise and confusion that usually then prevail. By Friday, the 3d inst., it became evident that the end of the session was near at hand. The orders of the day were exhausted, and matters of disagreement between the two branches, it was hoped, might be satisfactorily adjusted without delay. The most expected of our legislators prophesied an adjournment by Saturday, and on that day there was some talk of an evening session to finish up the work. But on a few bills, on which the Senate and House widely disagreed, compromises and conference committees failed, and the appointment of a committee to consider them was necessary. On the 4th inst., the House passed a bill to increase the salaries of District attorneys, on which Mr. Tirrell, of Weymouth, was appointed, as one of the conferees. The Senate finally receded from its amendments. The conferees were a bill in relation to the punishment of juvenile offenders, which was finally reported, and passed, giving the Governor to appoint justices of the peace in the several counties, who may be judges of District Courts, and shall have jurisdiction in such cases. Another was relative to the increase of the salary of the clerk of the State House, on which no agreement could be effected, and it was consequently adjourned. Another in relation to the pay of Assistant Clerks in both branches, the House failing, their compensation was increased by the Senate, and the bill was passed. The House refused at first to concur, but finally receded from its action. The facts of the case are that the Assistant Clerk in the House is a lady, who by her modesty and industry has won the respect of all the members. She has performed her duties with a high creditable manner. There did not seem to be any reason why her compensation should not be equal to that of her associate in the Senate, but it was voted otherwise. Another was relative to the salaries of clerks in the Secretary of State department, which was rejected. Another was in reference to the Lowell railroad, authorizing the State to purchase the land for the proposed line, and to build the road. The bill was passed, and the House receded from its amendments. The Senate passed a bill authorizing the Eastern R. R. Corporation to extend their bridge over the Boston and Maine R. R., and to build a new bridge over the Charles River adjacent to their present bridge. An amendment was carried in the House, that the bill should not be reported until the 1st of June. The Senate passed a bill authorizing the Eastern R. R. Corporation to extend their bridge over the Boston and Maine R. R., and to build a new bridge over the Charles River adjacent to their present bridge. An amendment was carried in the House, that the bill should not be reported until the 1st of June.

North Weymouth.—The Spring opens with much brighter prospects for business in this section of the town, than many years. Some of the best and most successful manufacturers intend doing a larger business this year than they have ever done before, and we know of none who think of doing any less than usual, although the price of some commodities has risen somewhat higher than last year.

For carpenters, painters, and every other business the prospects never looked better. There is to be a fair, and a number of houses put up here this season. Among the houses intended to be built are C. H. Newton, Henry Hicknell, George Clark, John Bates, and Winslow Burdell. Some of the houses are already under way, and it is expected that the season will be a very successful one for the building trade.

The Fine Point Hotel was opened some three weeks ago. This house will be kept by the well known caterer, Howard F. Rowe, celebrated for his hospitality, and who has been in the business for many years. The hotel is a fine building, and is well equipped with every thing in that line of trade. Such a store is very much needed in this place, and we wish him every success in his business.

A few days since a gentleman of this place collected some sixty pigeons for the purpose of having a shooting match. A proper place was selected, the time appointed, and the crack sportsmen were at their posts in good time to see who could shoot the largest number of pigeons. When all was ready, the gentleman having charge of the game, opened a box-trap and out flew a pair of innocent, harmless pigeons, and the brave sportsmen began to shoot. Occasionally one would fall, but many flew away. Some were wounded and died after flying some distance out the ring. We believe that it was a wicked, cruel practice, and hope the time is not far distant when every man and boy will look upon it as such, and practise pigeon shooting no more.

APPOINTMENT.—The Governor and Council have appointed E. C. Bumpus, Esq., of Weymouth, to be one of the judges of the East Norfolk District Court, and J. W. Acton, Esq., Clerk.

SELF ACTING FIRE ENGINES.—An exhibition of the Self Acting Fire Engine will be given at the North Weymouth Depot, on Friday, March 17th, at 3 1/2 o'clock P. M. The engine is a new and improved one, and is capable of doing a great deal of work. It is a very valuable addition to the fire department, and is well worth seeing.

REAL ESTATE.—The sale, noticed in last week's issue, of the estate of John H. Thayer, was made to Mr. F. B. Thayer, the proprietor of the North Weymouth and Real Estate Agent of North Brantree, whose connection with it is a pretty good indication that another of Brantree's best farms is about to succumb to the march of "improvement."

Our Legislative Letter.
The closing hours of the session were characterized by the noise and confusion that usually then prevail. By Friday, the 3d inst., it became evident that the end of the session was near at hand. The orders of the day were exhausted, and matters of disagreement between the two branches, it was hoped, might be satisfactorily adjusted without delay. The most expected of our legislators prophesied an adjournment by Saturday, and on that day there was some talk of an evening session to finish up the work. But on a few bills, on which the Senate and House widely disagreed, compromises and conference committees failed, and the appointment of a committee to consider them was necessary. On the 4th inst., the House passed a bill to increase the salaries of District attorneys, on which Mr. Tirrell, of Weymouth, was appointed, as one of the conferees. The Senate finally receded from its amendments. The conferees were a bill in relation to the punishment of juvenile offenders, which was finally reported, and passed, giving the Governor to appoint justices of the peace in the several counties, who may be judges of District Courts, and shall have jurisdiction in such cases. Another was relative to the increase of the salary of the clerk of the State House, on which no agreement could be effected, and it was consequently adjourned. Another in relation to the pay of Assistant Clerks in both branches, the House failing, their compensation was increased by the Senate, and the bill was passed. The House refused at first to concur, but finally receded from its action. The facts of the case are that the Assistant Clerk in the House is a lady, who by her modesty and industry has won the respect of all the members. She has performed her duties with a high creditable manner. There did not seem to be any reason why her compensation should not be equal to that of her associate in the Senate, but it was voted otherwise. Another was relative to the salaries of clerks in the Secretary of State department, which was rejected. Another was in reference to the Lowell railroad, authorizing the State to purchase the land for the proposed line, and to build the road. The bill was passed, and the House receded from its amendments. The Senate passed a bill authorizing the Eastern R. R. Corporation to extend their bridge over the Boston and Maine R. On Monday evening, the 6th inst., there was a meeting of the House, at which Mr. J. H. Thayer, of Weymouth, was elected to the position of Secretary of the House. The meeting was held in the Senate Chamber, and was attended by a large number of members. Some children had been playing in the barn, and it is a matter of regret that hay, and so rapid was the progress of the flames that the house and stable were soon reduced to ashes.
